

Secretary's Report

There is even less to report this year than last.

This, in part, was due to the centralisation of the umpires training courses, therefore there has been little need for any committee meetings. With the ESCUSA tutors training outside the area new members are few and far between.

There has been little appetite from the membership for any social events which was disappointing. However possibly understandable due to the wide location of ESCUSA compared to Croydon.

My thanks to the members of the committee for their support.
